- e. Two LST's and one LCM at the fisheries factory.
- f. Two river gunboats, five LCVP's and one armed tug above Woosung Fort.
- g. Three warships, one possibly a light cruiser, further up the Yangtze from the above mentioned points. $\dot{\mathbf{I}}$
- h. Numerous LCVP's plying the river.

1. Comment. The view was obscured by warehouses and the identification of the vessel was uncertain. A light cruiser has been in this location for several months.

Comment. The "warhips" were probably up the Whangpoo rather than the Ventte. The presence of a light cruiser in Shanghai has not than the Yangtze. The presence of a light cruiser in Shanghai has not been confirmed. This sighting report appears to be mediocre and the term "light cruiser" was probably the result of inexperienced reporting. 25X1
